EXIBO Free Screen License

One screen, at no charge.

Version 1.1, 27 November 2026

> You may show one EXIBO screen in your company, to the public, at no charge, for as long as EXIBO operates the free screen and you remain inside this license. The first screen stays free even if you later buy more. You may not run a second public display under this license, and you may not resell EXIBO.

Questions about this license, from you or your lawyers, go to hello@exibo.org. Write anytime.

1. The grant
2. One screen
3. What you may do
4. What you may not do
5. Ownership
6. Additional screens, commissions, and hardware
7. The promise
8. Conduct
9. Provided as it is
10. Acceptance and changes

You

The person or the company that accepts this license.

Screen

One public display playing an EXIBO experience.

Experience

A piece EXIBO designed for that screen, including Arrival, Wave, and Counter, and any commissioned piece a quote places on the free screen.

1 The grant

EXIBO grants you a non-exclusive, non-transferable, royalty-free license to display one EXIBO screen for commercial or non-commercial use, at no charge.

2 One screen

One screen means one public display playing at a time. A television, a kiosk, a projector, or a browser in fullscreen counts as a display. You may preview the screen on other devices while you prepare it. You may not play it on two public displays at the same time. A second public display is a second screen, and it is quoted as custom work.

3 What you may do

You may place the screen in a lobby, shop, booth, showroom, waiting room, office, or event. You may put your name, your mark, and one sentence on it, within the experience. You may leave it running, and you may stop it whenever you wish.

Up to four times in a calendar year, you may ask EXIBO to change the name, the mark, or the sentence. Further changes in that year are quoted as custom work. A new film, a new interaction, or a new idea is a commission.

4 What you may not do

You may not resell, rent, sublicense, or white-label the screen or the player. You may not copy the player or the experiences to run them outside EXIBO. You may not present EXIBO as your own product. You may not use the free screen to drive a network of locations.

5 Ownership

The player, the hosting, and the EXIBO experiences, including Arrival, Wave, and Counter, belong to EXIBO. Words, marks, and images you supply belong to you. You grant EXIBO a license to host and display that material only to operate your screen.

A commission is not a template. The quote states what you receive: the right to display that work on the screens named in the quote. EXIBO keeps the player, and keeps the right to show the work as EXIBO’s work.

6 Additional screens, commissions, and hardware

Additional screens and commissioned work are quoted for each project, in writing, with a price and a date. This license does not set those prices, and there is no fixed price per screen. Most films are quoted between $8,000 and $20,000. Most rooms are quoted between $25,000 and $80,000. If the work is smaller, the number is smaller. You will see the number before work begins.

If a quote includes hosting for named screens for a stated term, those screens are covered for that term. After the term, they renew as that quote or a new quote says. The original free screen remains free.

Hardware, if you buy it, is sold under its own order. The maker’s warranty covers the device. EXIBO is responsible for the image EXIBO placed on it. You do not need EXIBO hardware to use this license. Any modern browser on a television or a kiosk is enough.

7 The promise

EXIBO will not end this license, and will not disable your free screen, because you declined additional screens, a commission, or hardware. EXIBO may update or retire an experience. If EXIBO retires the one you are using, EXIBO will move you to another. If EXIBO ever stops operating the free screen entirely, EXIBO will give ninety days’ notice.

EXIBO may refuse to publish a screen, and will say why. EXIBO may suspend a screen that breaks this license.

8 Conduct

You will not place unlawful content on a screen, or content you do not have the right to show. You are responsible for what you ask EXIBO to display, including marks and photographs that belong to someone else.

9 Provided as it is

The free screen is provided as it is, without a service-level agreement. EXIBO will answer your letters. Custom projects are answered first. Help on a custom screen covers the link, the schedule, and the account. Ideas are commissions. Any service commitment for paid work will be written in that order. It is not implied here.

10 Acceptance and changes

Asking EXIBO to publish a free screen, or publishing one, accepts this version. If EXIBO changes the license, EXIBO will publish a new version number on this page. A free screen already accepted continues under the version in effect when you accepted it, unless a change is required by law or you accept the new version.

This page is the whole agreement for the free screen. It is not legal advice. If you need your own counsel to review it, have them review it before you rely on it.

Offered by EXIBO
hello@exibo.org

Published at exibo.org/license.html